

ESSENTIAL RESOURCES AND KNOWLEDGE TO SUPPORT YOU

CHARITY AND VOLUNTARY SECTOR

As charities and social enterprises take on broader roles, competition for funds has increased. Current regulatory changes dictate that impeccable standards of integrity and accountability are applied and every penny is managed effectively. Whether you work for a charity or have clients in the charity sector, we are here to help you meet the challenges facing the charity sector.

At ICAEW, we work with many charity and voluntary sector organisations like yours by providing essential resources and knowledge to support you and your organisation. These include:

Charity & Voluntary Sector Group

Keep up to date with this sector-specific group. You will receive technical updates, news, best practice guidance, invitations to events and networking opportunities, as well as updates on the big issues affecting the sector.

Diploma in Charity Accounting (DChA)

A specialist qualification to help you and your team gain recognition for your expertise in charity accounting and financial management. It is ideal if you are looking to develop your knowledge or if you are already experienced. There are two ways to obtain the DChA – the experience route or a classroom-based study option at Cass Business School or Sheffield Business School.
